- i) HW Fisher’s policies and procedures are set to promote a culture of integrity and quality throughout the firm. These are documented in our internal handbooks and manuals. Our internal quality controls are designed around the following elements:

Leadership responsibilities for quality
The Board has ultimate responsibility for the Firm’s system of quality control and has issued a “Board statement on audit quality” to emphasise The Board’s commitment to quality. Day-to-day responsibility of the audit department is delegated to the Firm’s Audit Management Committee, which is staffed by partners who are RIs and have the appropriate level of audit and technical expertise, and leadership qualities.

The Firm's audit documentation as well as the quality control procedures is designed to promote a culture which recognises the importance of audit quality.
Relevant ethical requirements
The Firm's Ethics Committee is in charge of monitoring and aiding compliance with ethical matters, including the ICAEW's Code of Ethics and the Ethical Standard issued by the Financial Reporting Council. All partners and staff confirm acceptance of the need to comply with the Ethical Standard as part of their annual statement of independence and integrity ("Fit and Proper" form).
Acceptance and continuance of client relationships and specific engagements
Acceptance of new client relationships is subject to successful conflict and anti-money laundering checks. Our terms of business are confirmed in a letter of engagement. Partners and staff consider the continuance of client relationships in completing a client reappointment checklist and a consideration of independence summary on each audit assignment. Specific engagement difficulties are referred to the Ethics Committee and Practice Protection, who will recommend the appropriate of course of action to the Board. It is our policy to agree suitable terms of disengagement with all clients if the Firm is no longer actively engaged by our client.
Human resources
Partners and managers are assessed annually and their specific training needs are recorded in a personal development plan. Other audit staff and trainees undergo a six-monthly appraisal process, supplemented by quarterly mentor meetings and six-monthly training reviews. The Firm's appraisal system is also supplemented by the monitoring and peer reviews which alert the firm to any particular deficiencies.
Engagement performance
The requirement is met through our review procedures which are documented in our audit manual. Such procedures include requirements for partner and manager reviews, Engagement Quality Control Reviews on long association and high risk clients, and on-going monitoring reviews on the audit process. The Firm's Technical Committee provide further support and advice on technical matters.
Monitoring
The head of the Audit Management Committee also acts as the Audit Compliance Partner, responsible for monitoring the quality of audits. An overall assessment of the effectiveness of the quality control procedures is completed at the annual Audit Compliance Review. This review brings together the results of the internal and external peer reviews, supplemented by information gathered during the monitoring reviews and other specific research. Annual external and internal peer reviews are completed and cover at least one file for each partner and audit manager.

- ii) The Firm's procedures on the internal review of audit quality consist of mandatory reviews of the work conducted by all audit and partners:
- On-going monitoring reviews are carried out by a member of the Technical Committee throughout the year on a sample of audit files, covering the entire audit process from planning to completion.
 - The Firm has appointed an external consultant to conduct a peer review of a sample of audit files on an annual basis. This review is normally conducted in late spring/early summer.
 - The Firm also conducts an internal peer process which is carried out by a group of select audit managers on an annual basis. This review is normally conducted in the autumn.

The files selected for the external and internal peer are given a rating, based on a scoring system. Remedial actions identified at those reviews are followed up in the next year's audit.
